AD VANTAGE OF SHUT SHOPS

A NEW firm has thought up an enterprising way of using boarded-up shop as advertng billboards.

Streetskins has created a way of putting canvas-like posters over shop shutters that might otherwise attract graffiti, with landlords taking a cut of any fee.

The idea also works for stores when they are closed overnight. Streetskins has posters on eight London shop fronts and is in talks with three councils about putting them on empty premises in their areas.

The Mirror has highlighted the blight of empty shops in its Save Our High Streets campaign.
